Have you been appointed yet by the Family Court to represent persons in Substantiation proceedings? Or would you like to become a DVLS volunteer to handle Child Protection Registry matters? Or do you want training to begin handling these cases in your practice? If so, come join us on March 16th!

This training is primarily designed for practitioners who represent adults or children in Substantiation proceedings through court appointment or by volunteering through Delaware Volunteer Legal Services ("DVLS"). Instruction will include training about what the Child Protection Registry is, how a person gets on the registry, registry levels and criteria, substantiation petitions, discovery and the Court process, and removal from the Child Protection Registry. The training will also provide ethics instruction on representing adults and children in these proceedings.
