Leonard L. Williams Justice Center in Wilmington to close at noon today due to power issue

The building's heating system has been affected

The Leonard L. Williams Justice Center is closing at noon today, Dec. 15, 2025, due to a power issue that has affected the building's heating system.

All matters that were scheduled to be heard today will be re-scheduled.

Crews are working to restore power, but at this time there is no estimate as to on when power and heat will be restored.
