Alico Road at Leonard L. Williams Justice Center to close on Monday
Aug. 11, 2025 for six weeks

Closure is needed to accommodate ongoing construction at the Custom House.

Alico Road – which provides access to the parking garage at the Leonard L. Williams Justice Center from North King Street – will be closed to vehicular traffic on Aug. 11, 2025 through Sept. 22, 2025.

All visitors wishing to use the parking garage attached to the Leonard L. Williams Justice Center should use the Walnut St. side entrance and exit (at the back of the courthouse) to access the garage during this time. The Walnut Street entrance to the parking garage will be open from 6 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

To get to the courthouse from the parking garage during construction, courthouse visitors may use the regular pedestrian entrance and exit on the North King Street side of the garage, which is near the front door to the Justice Center.

The six-week closure of Alico Road is necessary to accommodate the ongoing renovation and expansion of the Custom House, which will become the home of court administrative offices and a ceremonial courtroom when it opens in 2026.

Full details, including a map of the affected area, and regular updates on closures and traffic pattern changes related to the ongoing Custom House construction is on the court website on the traffic page: <https://courts.delaware.gov/traffic.aspx>.
