Submitted: September 26, 2018

Decided: October 12, 2018

Before STRINE, Chief Justice; VAUGHN and TRAYNOR, Justices.

ORDER

This 12th day of October, 2018, after careful consideration of the parties' briefs and the record on appeal, it appears to the Court that:

1. The Superior Court's rulings rejecting appellant Darnell Martin's arguments that the detention of his vehicle violated 21 Del. C. §701 and was thereafter extended by the detaining officers without the requisite level of suspicion should be affirmed on the basis of and for the reasons stated in the Superior Court's bench rulings on December 21, 2017.<sup>1</sup>

2. Martin’s contention that the Superior Court “erred by failing to make a meaningful determination of relative witness credibility,”<sup>2</sup> pointing to some purported inconsistencies in the arresting officer’s testimony and the Court’s statement that it was not prepared to find that the arresting officer had committed perjury, is without merit. We reject Martin’s suggestion that the Superior Court accepted the officer’s testimony and rejected his simply because he is not a police officer. Implicit in the Superior Court’s credibility findings was its conclusion that the arresting officer testified credibly while Martin did not. That the Superior Court observed that a finding to the contrary would be tantamount to finding that the arresting officer had perjured himself does not change the essence of this credibility finding—a determination that is well within the province of the trial court to make.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED that the judgment of the Superior Court is AFFIRMED.
