Executive Director for Delaware CLE Commission named to national post

Margot R. Millar named President of the Continuing Legal Education Regulators Association

Margot R. Millar, the Executive Director of the Delaware Supreme Court's Commission on Continuing Legal Education, has been named president of the national organization of Continuing Legal Education Regulators Association. (CLEreg). Millar will serve as president of CLEreg for a year-long term.

Millar stated, "I consider it an honor to serve as CLEreg's president. I have benefited greatly from my association with CLEreg and appreciate the opportunity to give something back. I look forward to working with the membership to address the many issues faced by CLE regulators."

Millar, 61, a native of Merion Station, PA, moved to Delaware in 1978 and has been with the Delaware Supreme Court for 32 years. She has been Executive Director of the CLE Commission for 11 years. Prior to her position with the CLE Commission, Millar worked in the Delaware Supreme Court's Office of Disciplinary Counsel.

To remain an active member of the Delaware Bar, attorneys must obtain a certain number of continuing legal education (CLE) credits every year, and the Delaware CLE Commission reviews and determines eligible CLE credit for the courses and events that offer CLE credit, as well as overseeing and regulating attorney compliance with the CLE rules. CLEreg is the national organization of CLE regulators across the country and has been in existence for over 30 years. Its membership is currently made up of regulators and administrative staff from the 49 jurisdictions that have mandatory continuing legal education, including Puerto Rico and two Canadian provinces.

In her position as president of CLEreg, Millar will oversee CLEreg's Executive Committee, help set national policy for the organization, work with the leadership from Association for Continuing Legal Education or ACLEA (the national CLE provider organization) and be responsible for the planning and operation of CLEreg's summer and winter conferences.

"Margot is a great asset to the Delaware Supreme Court and her selection as president of this national organization reflects well on Delaware, showing Margot's peers in the CLE community have the same high opinion of her work as we have here in Delaware," said Delaware Supreme Court Administrator William Montgomery.
